Teacher Highlight

By Kayla

Mr. Paul Kernan Koroly

Paul Kernan, multi curricular educator of ESHS, is from Scranton, Pennsylvania. Kernan went to three different colleges pursuing a degree in Secondary Education and Special Education.

Currently, he is teaching social studies, Psychology (AP, Honors and CP level), in addition to Freshman and Honors Seminar. He is also responsible for the school's Gifted Program. Previously, he taught American History and World Cultures II.

He also advises Mock Trial and co-advises Aavidum with guidance counselor, Carol Huffman. Annually, he helps manage the Annual Culture Fair. He also organized a peer tutoring program and is currently helping revise our school's website with Amy Polmouter, assistant principal, and Steven Simpson, junior.

Previously, he has had several Retired Senior Volunteer Programs to help assist students with their career paths. Kernan welcomes anyone in his room, 221 main building, as a safe place.

As a teacher in the building, he holds a goal that many teachers share: he wants to help preserve the school for future generations.

Outside of school, Kernan is the Secondary Level Vice President of the East Stroudsburg Education Association. He also helps out in our community at Salvation Army with his Seminar classes serving the community by raising funds for families in need and food drives throughout the year.

Fall Foliage in the 'Burg

By Braven
Dulaney

Fall is here and the landscape surrounding us is transforming into a world peppered with leaves of reds, oranges, and yellows. However, this dreamy wonderland may not be as colorful as years in the past.

This year, scientists predict that the foliage packed mountains and valleys may present less of a dramatic color transformation. In current data, shared by The Pocono Record, a decrease in consistent rainfall and wavering day by day temperatures has caused an increase in stress on the trees and plant life of the area.

Rather than performing their mesmerizing swaying of leaves in the breezy autumn air, the limbs are quickly becoming barren. Leaves have been drifting to the ground quickly covering the floor in a leaf litter.

While this may satisfy some locals crave for a crunchy hike through the autumn leaves and leaps into leaf piles, many still want a view of the notorious Pocono autumn. Not all hope is lost if you are desperate for a ticket to the fall color show.

Hikers in the area report that wetland areas have a larger concentration of trees that are holding onto their leaflets, thanks to a higher concentration of a water supply in those areas. Trails and side roads weaving through the Delaware Water Gap are holding onto the fall time magic. Throw on a comfy sweater, grab a warm cup O'Joe, and head on a hike through the glorious Pocono wilderness.

Senior, Kayla Clare, has been involved with Newspaper Club since her freshman year. Over that period of time, Clare has written over 40 articles for the club, which lacked an audience since the ESHSS publication went out of print.

Now, as Editor-in-Chief of The Cavalier Times, which has a viable digital audience, Clare states “There is a lot more pressure to perfect every article, lead the staff, and contribute to an enjoyable newspaper for the school.”

In addition to Newspaper Club, Clare is also involved with National Honor Society, Cheerleading and Irish dancing. Following high school, Clare plans to earn a pre-law bachelor’s degree and to attend law school.

What the Stars Say About You

By: Kayla Koroly & Marianne Fra Rojo

Aries: You tend to be sensitive, yet can be exciting and enthusiastic. You often seek adventure that can be challenging and push your limits. You absolutely love competition and are genuinely optimistic and show a strong sense of justice in a leadership position.

Taurus: You love to establish control, and sometimes fearful. You are incredibly dedicated, reliable and dependable. You are sometimes stubborn and dislike change, but still stable and enjoy security. Once the foundation is settled, you prefer routine.

Gemini: Normally, you are a very happy and optimistic person. You love surrounding your life with people and communicating with them. Sometimes your love for sharing can make you come off as manic, nervous or excited.

Cancer: You sharply refine what you are exposed to for comfort and safety. You want to be needed, loved, and appreciated no matter where you go or what you do. Your home is where you feel most secure and where you achieve most success.

Leo: Typically, you have a large group of friends and you are able to bring warmth and light into relationships. Your natural charisma radiance draws people towards you, the happy attitude you hold makes life more pleasurable for all the signs.

Virgo: You are often seen with an analytical mind, and do a good job of being well organized. You are often a pleasure to chat with because of your fantastic stories. You also have a great memory and a fuel for curiosity. You are able to collaborate very well with all the signs.

Libra: You have the sign of balance, peace, and stability. You love to surround yourself with a sense of beauty and harmony. You are very nurturing, defending and caring. Although you can be very shy at first, you will soon warm up to other signs.

Scorpio: You are often misunderstood. You are bold with an intense personality and feelings that hide under their exterior. You are truly good with putting your mind to your daily tasks, especially major projects and handle it with control and confidence.

Sagittarius: You have the great ability to focus and you have a love for exploring and adventure. You have a feeling of tasting all the pleasures of life. When you encounter failure you often retract and make a comeback. You have loyal friends, but have a hard time committing because of the desire for freedom.

Capricorns: You are very ambitious and practical. You are very stable person and find that as one of your priorities. You love to make goals and often achieve them slowly with purpose and a system. You also have tons of confidence and tend to take the burden of others because you are capable.

Aquarius: You have very quirky personality and accomplish goals very quietly in unorthodox ways. You enjoy taking paths untraveled and enjoy the greater good of humanity. You love to be a humanitarian. You are often gifted with talent in art and poetry.

Pisces: Often times, you are a dreamer and live a vivid life, filled with fantasy and power. You have a hard time expressing your inner life, often being referred to as introverted. Beneath your quiet exterior, you are determined, honest and compassionate.
